

Packed in Tin to Keep the Original Flavor In

Cans Supplied by the New Orleans Can Co.—Keeps Hoffmann-Hayman Products Fresh

Probably you have noticed that customers often ask for Hoffmann-Hayman Coffee Co. Coffee, Tea and Spices, in preference to others. Outside of their natural quality, the reason is probably that the "tins keep the original flavor in"; the products stay fresh long after they have been bought by the consumer.

Housewives who demand products that are "fresh" buy them from dealers who use New Orleans Can Co. tins.

The New Orleans Can Co.—an independent concern and first to decorate metal south of the Ohio River—manufactures a full line of lithographed tin cans, coffee buckets and lard pails;—multi-color process the best in lithography; metal signs made to the customer's order.

Progressive dealers, as Hoffmann-Hayman, who wish to offer their customers products that do not deteriorate with time, use tins made by the New Orleans Can Co.
