

COLOR-KEYED CAN — Jordan Sawyer, the "Master Chef," presents the new color-keyed Master Chef can, which insures foolproof grind selection and represents the first step in a Master Chef expansion program for the San Antonio market.

SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS

Community

EXPRESS AUSTIN BUREAU

AUSTIN — William H. Crook, acting director of VISTA, domestic volunteer corps, said Thursday a "community corps" that could use up to 50,000 volunteer workers will soon be enlisted in the War on Poverty.

Crook said the project could utilize college students, professional people, and other citizens for part-time work in their own communities.

"Veteran VISTA volunteers could organize campus and community volunteer corps which could tutor children and work with their families two or three days or evenings a week," he said.

Crook, former director of the Official Retired

BONN, Germany (AP)—Karl Vialon, former No. 2 man in the Development Aid Ministry, has been placed on the list of inactive civil servants, the government announced Thursday.

Master Chef Expanding

Master Chef Food Products has decided to expand its operations in the San Antonio market.

Jack Moore, president, and Warren Burns, sales manager, said the move was decided upon after a survey which showed great growth potential for this area.

The plant at 601 Delaware St. has been expanded and modernized to meet the expected increased demand.

First step in the expansion program is the new color-keyed cans for easy grind selection.

In San Antonio with Moore and Burns to kick off the expansion program were Jordan Sawyer, "the Master Chef" himself, and Karla Kreft, the Master Chef girl.

PP'S 5-STAR